

The intercultural Reflecting Team

Online collaborative reflection on teaching

19 November 2021, 11.00 – 13.00 GMT

Durham University

The method

Intercultural Reflecting Team (iRT)

A transnational group of academics share problems arising from their teaching, facilitated by video-conferencing. The provider of the problem learns by hearing and reflecting on the thoughts and possible solutions offered by the other members of the reflecting team.

The project

Intercultural Reflection on Teaching

The Intercultural Reflection on Teaching (IntRef) Project was funded by Erasmus+ between 2018 and 2021. It aimed to stimulate reflective dialogue between colleagues teaching in higher education from different countries, institutions, and disciplines facilitated by technology. It has generated resources that support others to use the methods developed by the project in their own contexts.

Project Website <https://intref.webspace.durham.ac.uk>

Please contact: taha.rajab@durham.ac.uk or nicola.reimann@durham.ac.uk for further information.

The online meeting

Sharing, discussing and solving each other problems arising from teaching

This online meeting is available to anybody in the world who teaches and/or supports learning in higher education. Before the meeting you will need to complete a form with a short description of a concrete problem or 'case' arising from your own teaching practice for which you would like to get collegial advice. Time: 11:00-13:00 GMT

By when	What
Fri, 15 Oct	Let us know that you wish to participate Once you have signed up, detailed instructions will follow.
Fri, 29 Oct	Post a brief description of a concrete case arising from your teaching practice
Mon, 8 Nov	Read other participants' cases and vote for the ones you would like to discuss
Fri, 19 Nov	Participate in the online meeting

Two additional iRTs are planned for 2021/22.

Registration

Click here to complete a form if you want to participate.